

Level limit measurement in copper

The challenge

A polish company required a backlog detection in copper. The measuring system needs to control the conveyer bands. The particular challenge poses the necessary fast reaction time of the system.

Our solution

The rotating paddle switch ROTONVIO RN3002 rope version solves reliably the described application. A motor with 5 rpm allows the fast reaction time. The customer is more than satisfied with this stable and reliable solution for his plant.

Products

RN 3002 Rope Extension

Full, Demand, Empty Detector
Rope Extension

- Vertical installation.
- Extension can be shortened or lengthened as required.
- Increased tensile strength.