The maintenance-free measurement technology meets the highest safety standards and is internationally certified. With a global network of partners in over 70 countries, we provide flexible on-site customer care and support.

UWT devices demonstrate an uncompromising robustness. One such an example is the tried and tested NivoBob®. The plumb measuring system has been in use in an application for carbon black by a well-known tire manufacturer for 21 years, without any problems and without any wear.

Vibranivo® series vibration forks have even in use for 30 years without requiring maintenance at a manufacturer of yoghurt pots!

The wide range of quality products ensure maximum flexibility, safety and reliability in ongoing process applications.
